KLAN OFFICIALS HERE OUSTED

HUGE DISTILLERY RAIDED BY POLICE

GANG IS ARRESTED AFTER HARD FIGHT; TWO STILLS SEIZED

A patrolman's acute sense of smell was responsible last night for the arrest of three men in a spectacular raid upon one of the largest bootleg-liquor distilleries ever discovered in Los Angeles. Those arrested are H. Kelter, 19 years old, a distiller; C. J. Spellman, 23, salesman, and H. Fink, 24, a mechanic.

Patrolmen Boehm and Walker, of Boyle Heights Police Station, were touring their beat on Pleasant avenue in an automobile. A gentle breeze was blowing and an odor unlike violets or other fragrant flowers tickled Patrolman Gillett's nasal process. The breeze was hootch flavored.

Trailing the intoxicating zephyr, the two officers were led to a partially two-story residence formerly occupied by the Y.W.C.A. at 511 Pleasant avenue. Sergeant Gillett was summoned and three officers surrounded the place.

DOORS SMASHED

All window blinds were drawn. In the rear were parked three automobiles loaded with many five-gallon containers filled with apricot brandy. The doors were broken in, windows about and through the walls. The lower floor was living-quarters. Two women tried to prevent the officers from breaking the doors.

The entire second floor of seven rooms had been converted into a complete distilling plant, piped throughout. Fink met Patrolman Watters at the top of the stairs, greeted him with him, but was subdued.

In four rooms were found 197 barrels of sizzling corn mash, each with a capacity of fifty gallons. In each of two rooms was an elaborate 150-gallon copper still operated by six 18-inch gas burners. Another room was used as the bottling department, containing more than fifty five-gallon water barrels filled with brandy. Also were found several small five-gallon copper containers, filled.

MAN OVERPOWERED

Spellman was busily engaged in one of the fermentation rooms when overpowered by the officers. Kelter was occupied in the bottling department. In each of the rooms the ceiling had been torn away to provide vent shafts for the escaping odors, which betrayed the secret of the operation.

The officers stated that the distillery had been in operation for two months, that it was installed by Kelter, who spent two years in touring France and Germany to learn the secrets of distilling brandy. More than $1,000,000 in cash and apriums was included in the stuff confiscated in the raid.

It was also stated by the officers that salesmen for the distillery distributed the liquor in modern copper containers in concession stands in "sandwich" boxes during transportation.

The three prisoners were taken to Central Station and charged with violating the Volstead Act.

EARLY DAYS ARE RELIVED AT CAPITAL

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SACRAMENTO, May 24.—Just as though the pages of history had been torn back several decades to the days of the Argonauts, Sacramento streets today once more resounded with the click of horses' hoofs and the usual picture of busy paved thoroughfares crowded with automobiles gave way to a motley group of picturesquely garbed cowboys and cowgirls, miners, scouts, prairie schooners, stage coaches and other relics of a bygone day.

And Sacramentoans with their visitors rejoiced in the spectacle, for it was the prelude to the big rodeo at the State Fair grounds this afternoon and the opening event in today's program of the '49 celebration.

MIX IS ABSENT

For the hundreds of spectators who lined the streets there was no disappointment feature—Tom Mix, celebrated cowboy, cinema actor, was not in the parade.

Mix had been counted upon by the capitains to lead the procession, but, owing to some difficulty in securing suitable transportation for his favorite horse, he was delayed in the southern part of the State, and according to a wire received by the committee, will not be here until Friday.

Up at the head of the procession, which stretched out for several blocks, rode Adam Kellner in striking likeness and characteristic manner of the famous cowboy western scout and soldier, Wild Bill Elliott of Sacramento, chairman of the rodeo program committee.

Besides the accusation of anti-soviet leanings made against the Patriarch, it is understood the British representatives in Geneva made representations in this connection to Foreign Minister Tchitcherina, head of the Russian delegation.

Watson Fires First Gun to Aid Harding

Keynote of Indiana Senator is Strong; Beveridge Laudatory, Too

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

INDIANAPOLIS, May 24.—Political issues of the coming fall campaign were forecast today before Indiana Republicans who had assembled here for the first State political convention of this year. Two speakers, looking toward the campaign, outlined the stand of the party.

Albert J. Beveridge, the party's candidate for United States Senator, singled out the main issue as economic, declaring "the supreme and immediate duty is to restore American agriculture to its strength and power," adding that this would bring the "enduring prosperity of all the people."

The keynote address, delivered by Senator James E. Watson, was regarded by political leaders as a model speech in its utterance.

Watson recounted the record of the Harding administration, declaring the administration needs no accolade and that "the most valuable accomplishment is its moderation."

Mr. Beveridge declared that "America is to be congratulated on the record of an splendid in its administration of the national administration. Both Senator Watson and Mr. Beveridge apparently agreed on foreign affairs, the Senator declaring the Harding policy was that of national independence, while Mr. Beveridge was absent.

KLEAGLE BAKER DISMISSED; GRAND GOBLIN'S POSITION ABOLISHED; FRICITION SEEN

Every official of the propagation department of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan in California was removed from office yesterday by summary action taken by Edward Young Clarke, Imperial Kleagle and Klaliff of the organization, according to announcement made by him in Atlanta.

Commissions of every Kleagle in the State, including King Kleagle G. W. Price, head of the propagation department in California, were revoked by Mr. Clarke's order, and Capt. W. S. Coburn, formerly Grand Goblin of the Pacific Domain No. 6, was appointed King Kleagle of this State, the dispatches said.

Imperial Kleagle Clarke's action followed a preliminary investigation into alleged lawlessness of the Klan in California.

SECRET ENVOY MEETS

At the same time it became known that a secret envoy of the "Invisible Empire" arrived in Los Angeles last night from Atlanta, bringing with him authority to represent the Imperial Wizard and Klan in a national organization. This man, it was admitted by Paul Barkdale D'Orz, attorney for Capt. W. S. Coburn, the new King Kleagle of California, former Grand Goblin, arrived late yesterday afternoon and brought with him the news of the removal of all California Kleagles.

This man, it was understood,

also brought with him definite instructions as to the policy to be pursued by the Klan's representatives in all possible actions taken by the organization.

D'Orz refused to discuss the matter other than to admit that the Klan emissary is in Los Angeles.

If this change is made for the good of the organization, we have nothing to say at this time," King Kleagle Price declared after the meeting of the Klan. He refused to discuss the report that his removal in causing trouble for the organization.

The Atlanta order affects nineteen Kleagles. The Kleagles were scheduled to hold a State convention in Los Angeles Saturday.

ACTION IS SURPRISE

News of the Atlanta action came like a thunderbolt to the regular weekly meeting of the Los Angeles Klan at Slauson and Monica avenue. Not until King Kleagle Price was in charge of the meeting and was informed of the action of Imperial Kleagle Clarke that he came down the stairs from the hall.

The Atlanta action will amount to practically a wide split in the "Invisible Empire" as far as California is concerned.

CONSIDER DEBT-FUNDING

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, May 24.—A reply to the French government's request for an indication by the Allied debt commission as to when it was said today at the treasury. The response of the American government to the French government probably will go forward within a day or two, it was said.

Negotiations with France for the funding of that nation's war debt

to this country, it was indicated

at the treasury, might be expected to take the form of arranging the method of liquidating the obligations of that nation when its funds

are available rather than with the method of paying off the debts

in installments during the period

during which the debts were deferred.

This assumption was borne out

by Secretary Mellon in a letter to

Chairman McAdoo of the Senate

Finance Committee in which he listed the prospective British payment as revenue which might be counted upon abroad in the estimates of the income of the United States for the fiscal year of 1923.

UNION MEN WIN POINT

To Force Hand of State Officers

Judge Prejudiced Against People of Illinois, Crowe Charges

"Big Tim" and Fred Mader to Face Accusers, Ruling of Jurist

(EXCERPT DISPATCH)

CHICAGO, May 24.—A demand that the State be made to show what evidences they had against "Big Tim" Murphy and Fred Mader, charged with murder in connection with the killing of two policemen and the union-labor reign of terror was successful today before Judge Harry B. Miller of the Superior Court.

The State is holding the men without bail, and the hearing on a writ of habeas corpus is to determine whether there is substantial proof of their guilt, or whether they are entitled, as they claim, to a trial by a grand jury.

"We will put Murphy and Mader on the stand," said Mr. Stein declared, "and let the State's attorney pump them to death. If they have anything on them we will let them prove it. They have never had an iota of evidence, and have been merely hiding behind the power of the courts."

Assistant States Attorneys Goodman and Godman strove to prevent the ruling that evidence must be put before the court if the men admitted to bail. After it had been lost and the submission of evidence ordered, Mr. Godman sought to have the hearing continued until tomorrow morning in order to give the lawyers time to point the law on the ruling.

The motion was denied, and he was given slightly less than an hour to consult his authorities.

State's Attorney Crowe personally appeared before his arguments against the court hearing ordered by the judge. He made the deliberate avowal that the court was prejudiced against the people of the State of Illinois, and asked that the hearing be adjourned on the grounds that it was in direct conflict with the interest of the people of the State.

Mr. Crowe also attacked the right of Judge Miller to sit as a Superior Court Judge in this hearing.

"Your Honor has been assigned to sit in the Criminal Court by the executive committee of the Superior Court," said Mr. Crowe, and under the rules of the Criminal Court, to which you are amenable by virtue of this assignment, this hearing should go to the chief justice. In order to avoid those rules you have been asked to sit in the Superior Court."

Judge Miller denied emphatically that he was prejudiced against the people, and appeared unimpressed by the arguments which had been advanced against him at the hearing.

He said he would not rule on the case during the hearing.

A new blanket indictment was returned by the grand jury yesterday.

Murphy, "Con" Sheehan, Mader and five others, one a woman, with the murder of the Lieut. Terrence Lyons, one of the two policemen killed during the night of lawlessness. At the same time, a second indictment was returned against leaders Braverman and "Smash" Hanson of assault with intent to kill in connection with the bombings.

Those named in the murder indictment are the members of the "Big Three" are: Mrs. Margaret Miller, alias Margaret Hoffert; John Miller, Stanley Bylock, alias "Flea" Stanley, Charles Duschkawski and Daniel McCarthy.

NEW TESTIMONY

It transpired from the State's Attorney's office today that testimony regarding "a reign of terror planned by union dictators" had been given the grand jury by Robert McLeod, confidential secretary to Fred Mader, president of the Chicago Building Trades Council.

McLeod's name, revised as "McLeod," appeared in the list of witnesses on the back of the indictment returned today.

At the State's Attorney's office, admitted after the indictment had been returned that "McLeod" was McLeod. He had been named in the first indictment, which made him a defendant as "McLeod." He was not charged in the indictment returned today.

"McLeod is the right name," Mr. Fairbank said. "We had hoped by changing his name to keep his identity secret for a time."

WILL FOSTER ARMY SPIRIT

Associations of Officers to be Encouraged

Special Facilities Accorded
at Training Camps

Would Bring Different Arms
of Service Together

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]
WASHINGTON, May 24.—Special privileges will be accorded at the summer training camps of the army this year to such reserve and national guard officers as desire to spend some of their time in organizations of associations or in command of sections of existing associations of citizens' officers. Instructions sent by the War Department to corps area commanders recently, it was learned today, direct that in laying out the grounds of the various training camps, every facility be accorded for the development of the association movement among them.

STARTED ON COAST
The War Department's instructions to the corps area commanders included a general statement of the organization and purposes of the associations of the Army of the United States, which originated in San Francisco, has now expanded into all of the Pacific States and which is held by War Department officials to be an invaluable factor for keeping in touch with the citizen soldiers between annual periods of training.

It was in connection with the growing favor among the citizen officers that Brig.-Gen. John Mullally of the reserves corps and president of the Far Western Association, that some similar association of nationwide scope should be fostered in order to stimulate interest in the work of associations, called yesterday on Gen. Pershing. There are indications that the War Department may take further steps in this direction, although no hint of plans that may be under consideration has been disclosed.

ONE ARMY POLICY
The association of the Army of the United States is the first of various similar organizations that has organized its schemes of organization the need of a nationwide relationship outside the Army itself through which the one Army military policy of the government could be developed. For that reason the associations of the corps commanders dwelt at length on the value of this particular type of reserve association in making the "one Army" policy that includes the Regulars, the National Guard and the organized reserves as three competent parts of the military forces, the effective defensive machinery it was intended by its framers to become.

In this western association regulars, National Guard and reserve officers and even civilians who have not found it practicable to seek reserve commissions, but who are interested in military matters as equally sought in membership, observing any competitive spirit or partisanship between the various branches of the service. The ties in itself corps areas commanded were told, was an essential characteristic of whatever organizations the citizen soldier chose to form with the co-operation of the government and the Regular Army.

CALIFORNIAN SPEAKS
Dr. F. M. Pottinger of Monroe, Cal., in charge of a tuberculosis sanatorium, declared the principal essential to the success of the disease is "rest, sunlight, diet, and quantities of alkali and water are the most efficacious in the destruction of toxins. Gradual exercise must be introduced to the patients after treatment begins."

The scientific assemblies today started their discussions on various diseases, their treatment and relative conditions.

DR. EDWARD JACKSON
Dr. Edward Jackson of Denver, a member of the association of the Army of the United States, which originated in San Francisco, has now expanded into all of the Pacific States and which is held by War Department officials to be an invaluable factor for keeping in touch with the citizen soldiers between annual periods of training.

DISCUSSED PROGRESS
Dr. Edward Jackson of Denver, a member of the association of the Army of the United States, which originated in San Francisco, has now expanded into all of the Pacific States and which is held by War Department officials to be an invaluable factor for keeping in touch with the citizen soldiers between annual periods of training.

THE HOUSE OF DELEGATES
The house of delegates will resume its sessions tomorrow. The election of officers to be among the important matters to be decided by the members of the house of delegates. The election of the council of the association of the Army of the United States, which originated in San Francisco, has now expanded into all of the Pacific States and which is held by War Department officials to be an invaluable factor for keeping in touch with the citizen soldiers between annual periods of training.

MEDICAL MEN FILE PROTEST

Line Up for Fight Against Society Break

Separation of Sections is Sought by Sonie

Californian Talks of Care
for Patients

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]
ST. LOUIS, May 24.—An organized fight to prevent the separation of the scientific sections of the American Medical Association in convention here from the house of delegates or the legislative body, was started today in the sixteen sectional meetings with the introduction of a resolution protesting any such action.

The introduction of a resolution in the house of delegates yesterday to amend the bylaws so as to eliminate from the house of delegates such representation as the scientific branches now have precipitated the fight which is expected to fully develop in the meeting of the legislative branch tomorrow.

This fight in the house of delegates is being made by a faction that believes that elimination of the sections of the association delegates will permit it to get control of the American Medical Association.

But, according to the police, Mrs. Baca, who was telling her about the other girl and claimed that the other girl was a "poisonous snake," and that she had broken up her home.

This morning Mrs. Baca called upon the Liberator and told the contents of Baca's letter and asked her to desist from her attentions to the doctor. Believing Dr. Baca had deceived her, and knowing of the doctor's great love for her, he slipped down the back door of the store, in which the interview between Mrs. Baca and herself took place, obtained a gun, hired a taxi and went to the school where the doctor's daughter was a pupil. She asked him to hurt her as you hurt me.

SHOT GIRL IN JAW
When the girl came into the office, Miss Liberato is said to have told the doctor that her father had hurt her and she was going to hurt him by hurting her, and then would take her own life. No one was in the room besides the two girls. Drawing a revolver, Miss Liberato shot the Baca girl in the jaw, the bullet ran down the ward, and it is believed the girl will recover. Miss Liberato asked the police to send the following telegram to Dr. Baca.

"Have hurt you as you hurt me. Miss Liberato is said to have told the doctor that her father had hurt her and she was going to hurt him by hurting her, and then would take her own life. No one was in the room besides the two girls. Drawing a revolver, Miss Liberato shot the Baca girl in the jaw, the bullet ran down the ward, and it is believed the girl will recover. RECLAMATION CHANCES POOR

Congressmen Are Shying at Smith-McNary Bill

Promises of Economy Must be Respected

Bonus Measure Also to Go into Oblivion

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, May 24.—Alfred Lindsey of Santa Barbara, Whitney L. Boise of Portland and E. L. Blaine of Seattle are here representing the advocates for a gigantic reclamation plan in a desire to force through this session of Congress the Smith-McNary bill, which authorizes the creation of a reclamation revolving fund of $250,000,000 for the irrigation of arid lands in the West and the drainage and reclamation of swamp lands in the South.

They have interviewed Senator Shadburne and other western Senators with the idea of securing immediate action, and are concentrating their efforts on House Leader Mondell, Speaker Gillette and other members of the steering committee, with the hope of getting their support in pushing the bill through the House at this session.

MAKE NO PROGRESS

So far they have not made much progress, and informed sources inform that this Congress is opposing the authorization of any large sums for any purpose, and that to make an exception in the Smith-McNary bill would be inconsistent with the pledges for economy and curtailment of government activities already given to the country by the administration.

The consensus of opinion of most of the western Senators seems to be that this legislation will not be taken up this session by the Congress, either as a separate measure or as a part of the soldiers' bonus legislation, when that measure is considered.

BONUS BILL DYING

The prospects of any bonus bill are also said to be remote. The Republicans of the Senate Finance Committee today announced that they were unable to reach any agreement in the form of a bill to be presented to the Senate, and have called into conference all the Democrats of the committee.

The position of President Harding has remained unchanged, and he will insist on the legislation carrying a bonus with a condition to raise whatever funds are necessary for any bonus provided. Therefore the prospect of a reclamation measure at this session seems very remote.

[TARDIEU ATTACKS BRITAIN, AMERICA]

SAYS FRANCE MUST SHOW WORLD THAT SHE IS NOT ALWAYS TO BLAME

[BY CARLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PARIS, May 24.—With a much-applauded speech against the domination of European politics by Anglo-Saxon ideas, Andre Tardieu, former High Commissioner of France in the United States, opened the debates of the summer session of the Chamber of Deputies today.

He turned his attention to criticizing America and England. He told the government that it must decide now on a policy for France which would be favorable to Americans and Englishmen and would show the whole world that France was not always wrong and that fully half the troubles of the present arose from mistakes England and America made at the time of the war.

The big Anglo-Saxon mistake, in Mr. Tardieu's opinion, lies in the belief that the world is governed by the principles of justice.

In 1918, he said, Mr. Lloyd George showed himself an adherent of this "economic materialism which suppresses the weak and helps the strong," when he tried to annex Upper Silesia to Germany. The opinion was shared by the Germans.

This conception entailed as its ultimate aim the creation of a United States of Europe, toward which the first step must be the revision of those treaties which have given Europe its present physiognomy.

To the triumph of this thesis, he asserted, the great obstacle was the "protectionist" attitude of France, which was "protectionist without defending them or giving reasons for her attitude." The result was that France was always having to bear the blame.

The Board of Education received a cash prize of two hundred dollars from the Los Angeles county committee on beautification of school grounds, and a special honor certificate from the Southern California Chapter American Institute of Architects for co-operation in creating buildings and grounds. "On the whole, the jury feels that this is probably the most successful high school group in the West and any city should be proud to have attained it. Surely such a magnificent environment must have a perpetual influence on the youth who for four of the most formative years of their lives must spend the principal part of each day in it."—Architect and Engineer.

worthy of it and a reward that is greater than money. Opportunity is always "on the air."

As Los Angeles is strategically situated in world development, so Santa Monica is situated in the development of Los Angeles. As the front door of Los Angeles it is a fitting place to receive its most welcome guests. It opens the way to ideal all-year climate, recreation, beauty, inspiration, education and home environment.

Imagine, if you can, our magnificent high school sitting on a hill in fourteen acres of the most beautifully laid out and landscaped school grounds in America, looking out over the ocean and Santa Monica Bay with its crescent coast of mountains on the right and hills on the left and Catalina Island in the distance. Imagine open-air study and class-rooms with fresh, cool and invigorating air all summer and soft, balmy and comfortable air all winter. Look at the architecture in our new schools, which makes them a beautiful and harmonious part of our residence neighborhoods. Add to this an ideal home environment and you will begin to see why Santa Monica is an ideal place to live and to rear children.

For information come to Santa Monica or address Greater Santa Monica Club, care of Chamber of Commerce, Santa Monica, California.

The High School has classes in journalism and operates a print shop where all the school printing is done and weekly and monthly publications are issued.

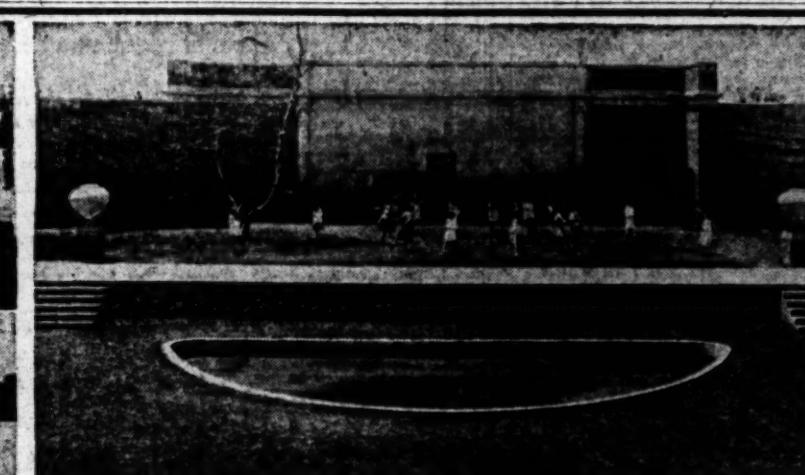

The courses are broad enough to meet any university requirements for entrance and elastic enough to enable pupils to elect courses for other purposes.

Ten Per Cent Rate Cut Fails to Influence Market; Foreign Exchange Recovers

BY ALEXANDER DANA NOYES
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK. May 24.—Although the Interstate Commerce Commission's announcement of an authoritative 10 per cent cut from existing railway freight rates took today's markets somewhat by surprise, its effect on stock exchange prices was of the slightest. The majority of railway shares ended the day at exactly the closing prices of the day before. In so far as the commission's decision was a stock market disappointment, the market's attitude might be accounted for by the fact that the railway shares have not moved up with the general list since this session's rise in the stock exchange began. But there are other reasons why a 10 per cent reduction may be accepted philosophically.

The advance in rates during August, ranging from 25 to 40 per cent in the case of geographical groups, is admitted by most railway men to have been too great. It turned out, in railway language, to be more than the traffic would bear. Some reduction almost certainly will be made by the roads and on the question of further cuts much difference of opinion existed. But it must not be forgotten that the effect produced on earnings by such lowering of rates is very difficult, if not impossible, to estimate, a portion of enhanced traffic from what it would have been in 1931.

The commission states its own belief that net earnings at existing rates, if continued for another year, would exceed the statutory "fair return." Taken alone, the commission's judgment, which in 1930 went far astray in fore-shadowing results, might possibly be accepted. But it is hardly in line with experience, however. Two years after every one of our acute financial crises, American railway traffic has invariably increased with such rapidity from the immediate aftermath of the crisis that the year's total freight mileage actually reached a higher figure than any previous record, with larger totals in the succeeding years. Net revenues increased along with the traffic and that hardened despite the fact that rates continued progressively to decrease during at least half a dozen years. What the present situation indicates may be learned from today's car loadings statement for the same week of May. Notwithstanding a decrease from the same week in 1931 of $1,000 cars of coal, the increase in general merchandise was so great as to bring the total loadings 26,000 cars above last year and 33,000 above 1930.

While the railway shares stood motionless on the stock exchange today, industrial shares moved with considerable enthusiasm, as on the day before, and the movements again had little relation to one another. The embers of the recent speculative blaze over steel mergers flickered rather dimly; perhaps the most remarkable remark to the Attorney-General at Washington, that only three of the companies are now active in the negotiations. At some point in this ten little Indian story Wall Street was likely to have lost interest altogether. Outside the stock exchange speculative attention was converged on the extraordinarily violent swing of wheat market prices. A grain market which can rise 3 cents on the first day of the week, rise on the second and fall 5 on the third, is clearly in a spasm of speculative readjustment.

GENERAL PETROLEUM DECLINES TWO POINTS

Sellers of General Petroleum were in the majority on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange yesterday and the stock declined 2 points to 125 1/4 in a fairly active market, which absorbed all offerings without too great recessions. Union Oil of California was much in demand again, selling mostly 125 1/4 throughout the day, breaking to Tuesday's United States Royalties was 14 cents higher at 28.

Distinct irregularity was the unusual feature of the mining list yesterday, with the stocks of single unit in its daily price fluctuations. Oatman United opened weak at 71, but advanced steadily to a closing price of 74 1/4, a net gain of 2 cents. United American, on the other hand, declined 4 to 125 1/4 cents higher at 17 1/2.

LEASING OF COMPRESS IS FAVORED

Pacific Cotton Exchange Urges Its Operation by Private Owners

The Pacific Cotton Exchange, of which T. W. McDevitt is president, and the members of which handle 96 per cent of the cotton passing through this port, in a communication received yesterday by the Board of Harbor Commissioners, recommended that the city's cotton compress at the harbor be leased to and operated by private owners in order to increase the efficiency of cotton handling at that port. The exchange also recommended that the city immediately increase the capacity of the storage yard attached to the cotton compress. The Chamber of Commerce has taken similar action. The Harbor Board already has under consideration from the Union Terminal Company a proposition to lease and operate warehouses No. 1 and the cotton compress, the city to receive 50 per cent of the net revenues from the cotton business in return for the use of its property, the rates for compressing and storage to be fixed by the Harbor Board.

Club Abandons Idea of Building Home at Harbor

Lack of harmony among the officers of the organization was given yesterday at the Chief Petty Officers' Club as the reason for abandoning plans to construct a $100,000 national headquarters building at Los Angeles Harbor. At a special meeting of the Los Angeles Harbor Chapter of the National Commerce Club, the organization waived all rights to the 300,000 site recently presented by the chamber.

As a result of the C. P. O. Club's action the site has been offered to the Y.M.C.A. for the establishment of a $500,000 Army and Navy Y.M.C.A., as was recently recommended for the port by J. H. Rymer, general secretary for the Pacific Coast.

A prominent member yesterday told national heads of the Y.M.C.A. in a conference on board the Flagship California that the Los Angeles Harbor is the only logical point on the Pacific Coast for the establishment of the huge recreation center. The Navy Department can not consider moving the Pacific Fleet from San Pedro, the climate conditions make the local port ideal as a fleet base and submarine center. The Navy Department, however, is saiding that there is no other port on the Coast so admirably fitted to the Navy's needs.

URGE SHIPPING BOARD TO HELP COMPANY

IMPORTANCE OF AID FOR BAY CITY LINE TOLD BY NAVY

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE

WASHINGTON, May 24.—The importance of assisting the Oceanic Steamship Company to maintain its operations between the west coast and Australia, as a means of keeping a line of communication with some of the Far Pacific possessions of the United States, was urged upon the Shipping Board today by the Navy Department. The company, an American-owned line, it would be compelled to discontinue sailing if its mail contract was not renewed.

The present mail contract expires June 15 and a Congressional appropriation will be necessary to keep the company's General Works to cover N. Chairman Lasker said to-day.

Secretary Denby, he added, has informed the board that the Navy Department will be left in charge of the company's mail contract with some of the Pacific possessions, notably Samoa, if the two vessels now operating to Australia are withdrawn.

In addition to the Navy Department, Mr. Lasker expects to get the support of Secretary Hoover and other chiefs of executive departments in urging President Harding to recommend special appropriation to enable the Post Office Department to make a new contract.

PARK IMPROVEMENT

South Pasadena Interested In Arroyo Seco

SOCIAL CORRESPONDENCE

SOUTH PASADENA, May 24.—Thursday evening in the City Hall the Arroyo Seco Park Association is to hold a mass meeting to create interest in the proposed bond issue for the beautification of the bottom end of the Arroyo Seco. Recreation grounds, tennis courts, a nine-hole golf course and attractive landscaping to take advantage of the beautiful terrain are among the features of the tentative plan to be discussed.

The Arroyo Seco scheme will be analyzed from all its angles by G. Gordon Whitehead, secretary of the Arroyo Seco Association of Los Angeles. The Arroyo Seco Association is a new organization which has arisen in a few weeks from twenty to several hundred members. As the proposed improvement most vitally affects the western part of the city, residents there have joined the new organization practically en masse.

YANKS FLEECED BY BRITISHERS

London Newspaper Exposes Gambling Traps

Elaborate Schemes to Dupe American Tourist

Arrest Comes After Man Loses $110,000

JIT CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH

LONDON, May 24.—The Evening News exposes traps to fleece American tourists in crooked gambling houses in London after a long investigation by reporters.

The exposure coincides with the arrest yesterday in Southampton of Charles Grant Lawson, who was preparing to embark on a liner for New York. He was living at the Ritz Hotel in London and is charged with cheating David K. Hall of $25,000 sterling ($10,000) in a luxuriously furnished West End flat.

"In view of the coming invasion of Americans, extensive preparations are under way by gambling-house proprietors and confidence tricksters to attract rich tourists, already many complaints have been heard by Scotland Yard," says the News. "On board every large liner crossing is an accomplice obtaining introduction to, and information concerning, every gambling parlor, women as well as men. He passes the information to the gambling-house proprietors and others living by their wits. They send decoys often women, to the ships, some somewhere where they can drink after hours as selling of liquor is forbidden after 11 p.m."

"Fashionable women and titled men add to their incomes by inducing tourists to visit the gambling houses."

"We have learned that many Americans, formerly well known in Paris, but expelled from France for not working or for selling drugs, are gathered in London and are working for gamblers who believe they can lure their fellow-Americans easier."

NORMAL WEATHER IS BOON TO FARMERS

VEGETATION GROWTH IN WEST HINDERED SOME BY LACK OF RAIN

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)

WASHINGTON, May 24.—Normal temperatures almost everywhere except in the South, did much during the week ending yesterday to aid the farmers, the Weather Bureau reported today in its weekly weather review.

Growth of vegetation was hindered somewhat in Western States by insufficient rain.

Conditions as reported to the bureau favored a continuation of the satisfactory growth during the past weeks by winter wheat. Rain still needed at the close of the week in Iowa, while the crop was described as becoming woody in Western Kansas, and stands were thin in many fields in Nebraska. Cool, cloudy weather in the spring wheat belt was favorable for that crop, the review said, adding that considerable improvement was reported from South Dakota as a result of additional rains, and no diminution was indicated in Montana.

The oats crop which generally is backward in the interior valley States, due to delayed sowing, improved during the week. Corn was reported as having accumulated rather poorly in the upper Mississippi Valley; in most other sections the early plant is coming up to a good stand.

In next few weeks there will be many trains moving into Los Angeles from Southern California. The movement of trains has been said yesterday, that some on some lines will be a mile from Broadway at the Goldwyn studios:

"I should like to answer Dr. Briegleb's charge by a simple statement of fact. In order for a photograph to be financially successful it must appeal to all classes of people. No other art must please such a wide range of patrons. Statistics show that there are 41,295,452 church members in the United States and that 26,295,639 of them belong to the various Protestant denominations. There is no subject on which people are so sensitive as religion. Now it is reasonable to think that the pictures would deliberately run the risk of offending more than 26,000,000 people?"

ANSWERS DR. BRIEGLB

Film Producer Defends Industry From Charges Made by Presbyterian Minister

Regarding the statement of Dr. Gustav A. Briegleb of Los Angeles before the Presbyterian General Assembly in Des Moines that motion pictures are ridiculing Protestant ministers in retaliation for censorship campaign, Abraham Lehr, vice-president in charge of production at the Goldwyn studios, said:

"I should like to answer Dr. Briegleb's charge by a simple statement of fact. In order for a photograph to be financially successful it must appeal to all classes of people. No other art must please such a wide range of patrons. Statistics show that there are 41,295,452 church members in the United States and that 26,295,639 of them belong to the various Protestant denominations. There is no subject on which people are so sensitive as religion. Now it is reasonable to think that the pictures would make a wreck out of 'The Taming of the Shrew.'

"In fact, it is difficult to think of one great piece of literature which would survive Dr. Briegleb's restrictions."

Cine officials expect a larger business after the School closing. These trains will carry only Los Angeles residents going East for a visit.

The movement of trains for the conventions in California for the next few weeks will be equally great. The Santa Fe will run a special train to San Francisco, the Southern Pacific will have a special train making the side trip to the Grand Canyon, where a special entertainment has been arranged. There will be Hopi and Navajo dancing and chanting and rug weaving.

DELEGATES FLOCKING
These trains will bear delegates to the Rotary convention here and the Shrine convention in San Francisco. The Santa Fe will have twenty-five trains of Shriners.

HARD BLOWS
ARE STRUCK AT SHARKEY

Government Weaves Net of Evidence at Postal Robbery Trial

Link by link the government is weaving its chain of circumstantial evidence against Tom Sharkey, charged with robbing the postoffice at San Jacinto on the night of Dec. 25, 1916, before a jury in U. S. Dist. Judge Bleedsoe's court.

During the afternoon a torn copy of the telephone bill for the date of Dec. 25, 1916, was introduced by the government, and the significance of the move will be apparent today.

The point brought out against Sharkey included the finding of two $50 bills, identified by Postmaster Tanner as the property of the government, on the person of Sharkey when he was searched at police headquarters. The turnstile in the lobby of the telephone company, located at the shoulders of Sharkey, after he had been winged, the prosecution asserts, by Arthur Hasseline, one of the San Jacinto posse that drove the telephone robbers to the victim's home.

Other purposed evidence against Sharkey was the offer of the package of $30,000 2-cent postage stamps performed by a thirty-year-old man in the body of one of the fleeing robbers by H. R. Wilson, a garage man of San Jacinto, who was a member of the force chasing the thieves.

Testimony was given by Frank Smith, a delivery boy in the package room of the P. H. and Vernon M. Bradner, then a medical student employed at the package room, now a practicing physician at Pecatonica, Ill., who, after taking the witness stand, found the lower left shoulder of Sharkey and about Sharkey calling for it on Jan. 2, 1917, after the explosives had been removed by Joseph Mahon, depot master, and Detective Louis Canto and dumped in Griffith Park.

Lengthy Kisses
Referred to in Divorce Action

Three weeks after Mrs. Virginia C. Sanders married Harlan B. Sanders, Pasadena merchant, they went to the Green wire the bridegroom danced only once with his wife and thirty-one times with other women, according to a divorce complaint filed yesterday by Mrs. Sanders. With the exception of a cross-complaint filed by Mr. Sanders in which he named a caterer of Pasadena as corespondent, the two documents accuse each other of being overly friendly with other men and women. Mr. Sanders charged that his wife married him for his money and he named Robert Pinkerton of Pasadena as corespondent.

According to the two documents, Sanders was described as being overly friendly with other men and women. Mr. Sanders charged that his wife married him for his money and he named Robert Pinkerton of Pasadena as corespondent.

In his cross-complaint, Mr. Sanders refers to two kisses, declaring "one kiss was ten minutes long, and another lasted from 7 p.m. until 9:30 p.m."

PANEL IS DRAWN FOR TRIAL OF MADALYNNE

Judge Shenk yesterday drew the panel of veniremen for the jury in the second trial of Mrs. Madalynne Oberchain accused of the murder of J. Belton Kennedy. The call of prospective jurors were set for June 1, when those chosen will be drawn. A list including 151 men and 157 women was drawn. The trial is scheduled to begin on June 4.

SPEEDERS GIVEN TERMS IN JAIL

Two Must Serve Sentences for Breaking Law

Navy Man, Facing Cell, Asks for Fine Instead

Girl Who Sent Judge Poem, Sends Coin, Too

A list of things to be eliminated from the film. Let us see what effect his elimination would have on literature in general.

The book of all "triangle" stories would take the Book of Esther and the story of Joseph from the Bible.

The elimination of all death agony scenes would do away with "Death and Juliet" and all the Greek tragedies.

"The elimination of scenes dealing with inharmonious home life would make a wreck out of 'The Taming of the Shrew.'

"In fact, it is difficult to think of one great piece of literature which would survive Dr. Briegleb's restrictions."

Two defendants who appeared in the county speeders' court yesterday before Justice Hinshaw were sent to the County Jail for five days and another only escaped a jail sentence by the fact that he had been serving his time on the U.S.S. Idaho on a cruise.

When the court announced that R. A. Gottfried, a chief boatswain's mate on the U.S.S. Idaho, would have to spend five days in jail he was trouble with the U. S. Navy facing him. He pleaded with the court and the penalty was changed to a fine of $45. He had been held for driving at thirty-seven miles per hour over a crossing, where the limit was fifteen.

Vernon Morrison, 6787 Hollywood Boulevard, arrested for driving forty-four miles an hour on Washington Street, and Robert Miller, 256 Fourteenth Street, San Pedro, halted for going thirty-five miles an hour over a crossing, were sentenced to go to the County Jail.

Miss E. Diers of 387 Lincoln Avenue, Pasadena, who indited a poem to the court telling of being arrested for cutting a corner, decided that her plea would be on paper and not in court. She called the court a "chump" for hoping that would cover her fine. The court accepted the amount, but stated he thought the poetry was worth at least $5.

Five speeders totalled about $1400. Twenty-two drivers of cars in the annual economy run, halted for going about twenty-eight miles an hour over curves on the Ridge Route, will have a hearing next week. The cases were continued until that time.

Rotary Club
Pledges Full Attendance

Pasadena Rotary Club yesterday pledged 100 per cent attendance at the international Rotary convention, which opens here June 5. This was announced by President William D. Stephens of the Los Angeles Rotary Club.

During the afternoon a torn copy of the telephone bill for the date of Dec. 25, 1916, was introduced by the government, and the significance of the move will be apparent today.

The point brought out against Sharkey included the finding of two $50 bills, identified by Postmaster Tanner as the property of the government, on the person of Sharkey when he was searched at police headquarters. The turnstile in the lobby of the telephone company, located at the shoulders of Sharkey, after he had been winged, the prosecution asserts, by Arthur Hasseline, one of the San Jacinto posse that drove the telephone robbers to the victim's home instead of in Los Angeles.

President Stephens said it was hoped to obtain 100 per cent attendance from all California clubs.

NICHOLS STILL ALIVE

Illinois Journalist's Death Report "Greatly Exaggerated"

The report of the death of W. Nichols, Jacksonville (Ill.) journalist, current among his Los Angeles friends, is greatly exaggerated.

Mr. Nichols recently visited Los Angeles while here was in ill health. Shortly after his departure for his home, a report became current that he had passed to the Great Beyond and that his body was being in a vault in his native city.

"The report is not only exaggerated," said Mr. Nichols in a communication to The Times yesterday, "but positively untrue. I wish my friends to know that I am very much among the land of the living."

SUPPOSED FIRE IS ONLY STEAM CLOUDS

Crowds of people who thronged about the Douglas Building at 287 West Third street early last night to witness what was at first reported to be a fire in the basement were disappointed when they discovered that the large clouds of supposed smoke issuing from the lower floors were steam clouds from a burst boiler flue. Police officers assisted Night Engineer James Payne in repairing the flue. No damage was reported.

COTT GOVERNMENT
The soviet mint in Petrograd is now
striking rubles from metal that was the
lot of the churches and palaces of the old
regime. You will never find "In God We Trust" on any of the Russian coins. The soviet leaders will not even trust one another or themselves.

MAKE IT UNANIMOUS
In the Oregon primary upward of 30,
000 Republican votes were cast, while there were less than 10,000 Democratic ones. Cyclones show which way the wind blows.
Do the Democrats ever expect to edge into anything real in Oregon? That sounds like a report from Southern California.

MUSIC AND MOODS
It is sound that babies can be soothed
to slumber by violin records of "Tranquillity"
or the "Meditation" from "Thais," where they are made truthful and boisterous by fragments of jazz. It is the same way with the grown-ups. It's the jazz stuff that keeps
'em awake or starts 'em sleeping. Anybody can behave or go to sleep when the "cello" is doing Schubert's "Serenade."

A MODERN ERAU
There's a man at Carson who has whiskers eleven feet and three inches in length.
He has grown the whole stretch in forty years, which indicates remarkable hirsute
prosperity. There are many men with beards fifty years old who cannot show more than a four-foot stand. This Carson wonder carries his whiskers in a sack while he is at work or at the table. It isn't every guy who can furnish his own moustache.

ALL TOGETHER NOW
Cultists urge that everybody spend the first fifteen minutes of the day in deep thought. When does the day begin or is this intended to take the place of deep breathing or counting sheep? Is this supposed to be taken standing up or lying down? Does the thought period follow
breakfast or does it precede the grape fruit? What are we supposed to think about? Oh, yes; they said about fifteen minutes. Well, let it go at that.

SOMETHING IN SKIRTS
The head of the Associated Dress Industries of America declares that skirts are coming down. We will wait and see. The new models for really high-class dames are all around eight inches from the ground. At present they are from nine to nineteen. The expert says that flappers probably will not accept the dictum of decorous fashion.
They may continue to wear their skirts at half-mast or at the peak-halyards, but the socially erect will stubbornly guard the eight-inch limit. In the halls of refinement and in the salons of the intrenched the skirt will fly at a level of not more than eight inches from the floor. The men who make them have spoken. Now let's see what really happens.

SOCIAL NAPOLEONS
An inquiry directed at two hundred
senior girls at the University of Wisconsin
shows by a large majority that coconit is the most thoroughly despised vice to which their male admirers are subject. On the other hand, ambition is the quality most desired in a prospective husband. This seems odd, as coconit may easily travel
in the same company with ambition. The girls prefer ambition to courage or honesty
and they detest coconit more than they do cowardice or treachery. The social qualities of poise and tact are also admired in men.
It is evident that the college girls
want their men to be social and business successes before anything else. It is not methods they care for so much as results.
So far as the girls are concerned men are
for the drawing and counting-rooms.

BUNDLE DAY.
Clean out the attic and the closet consider to clothe the near-naked of the Near East, for the people are going to rage and nakedness while the looms of the Near East are still. The production of cotton and wool has ceased with the seven years of war, and the raw materials sent from America for the manufacture of cloth are only those imported by the Near East relief to be woven into cloth at its industrial schools
and workshops.

And these people must be clothed. If we have no second-best to give them, then why not our best? We can duplicate our clothes
here in this country with a little effort,
whereas a lifetime of effort in a country
where there are no industries will not avail
a man so much as an undershirt.

The entire populace over there is in rags
and tatters, excepting those only who are fortunate enough to get old clothes from America. And the demand is imperative.
By the time we can get the fruits of our attic spring cleaning to Mt. Ararat the winter snows will be there. And don't forget that a frayed overcoat or that forgotten
skirt may save a life.

Thursday, May 25, is Near East Relief
"Bundle Day" in Los Angeles and 100 other Southern California communities. "Bundle
Day" headquarters are at 517 Wright &
Callendar Building, telephones 666-54 and 144-51, Los Angeles.

School yards and fire stations will be bundle stations all day Thursday, May 25. The central warehouse to which bundles may be sent or mailed is 510 South Molino Street, Los Angeles.

OUR MERCHANT MARINE
Although somewhat belated in time,
the United States Shipping Board announces the completion of the last of the great merchant fleet that was to comprise a "bridge of boats" stretching from New York to Southampton. Under the directions of the Shipping Board a total of 3312
vessels with a carrying power of 13,626,711 tons have been constructed. This is the greatest merchant marine ever built by a government. If the vessels were all chartered under the American flag and all in service they could carry abroad annually at least double the total amount of American products.

What is to be the fate of these vessels?
These are questions to which the American people should give careful consideration. If sufficient profitable cargoes can be secured for them that they can be kept sailing the seas they will give a powerful impetus to our foreign trade. If they are to pass under foreign flags or are to be kept tied up to the wharves our merchant
marine will sink back to the comparatively trivial place it held on the seven seas before the war.

COOT GOVERNMENT
The soviet mint in Petrograd is now
striking rubles from metal that was the
lot of the churches and palaces of the old
regime. You will never find "In God We Trust" on any of the Russian coins. The
soviet leaders will not even trust one an-
other or themselves.

Chairman Lasker of the United States Shipping Board announced when the last boat was completed that 1000 of them are now idle because of adverse shipping conditions; and he made a strong appeal for a ship subsidy sufficient to enable these ships to engage profitably in the shipping
business under our flag.

"The salvation of the American merchant marine lies solely in government aid," he commented. "America must build up its export trade. It must find markets for our surplus production. No nation has been successful in carrying out these policies
unless it has had a strong merchant marine capable of transporting its commodities
to all parts of the world in its own bottoms, as well as maintaining efficient connections in these ports, in order to obtain return cargoes. For us the only solution lies in Federal assistance."

Mr. Lasker said further that a ship subsidy could be secured only on condition that the citizens who resides inland co-operates
with those on the coasts of the country,
that he realizes the benefit of having the products of his farm or factory carried to foreign markets in American vessels.

Protection is the keystone of American prosperity. We have maintained for generations a schedule of tariffs which protect American labor and American products from foreign underselling, due to cheaper labor costs and government subsidies of other countries. A government subsidy is a form of protection, similar in its effects to a tariff. As Mr. Lasker points out, in order to control foreign markets and increase our export trade American products MUST BE carried in American bottoms. Unless there is government aid this will not be possible.

Since the treaties of Washington were negotiated a new and still more compelling reason exists for maintaining an adequate merchant marine. Our construction of war vessels is limited. In case of trouble with a foreign country a powerful advantage
would rest with the nation having the greater merchant marine. Her merchant marine was even more valuable to Great Britain during the late war than the British navy. Both Great Britain and Japan are rapidly building up great merchant fleets. For our own safety this country must follow a similar plan. It is both a patriotic duty and a sound economic policy.
Under existing conditions a strong merchant marine becomes a military necessity.

With the completion of the last of the Shipping Board vessels Mr. Lasker has brought order out of a department in which greater confusion once reigned than in any other under the Federal government. He inherited a veritable white elephant from the last administration. In Washington it was called the toughest job under the Federal government. The waste during the war and immediately after, although partly unavoidable, had been enormous. During the war period there was some reason for this. The Shipping Board was organized to follow a similar plan. It is both a patriotic duty and a sound economic policy.
Under existing conditions a strong mer-
chant marine becomes a military necessity.

Two famous Socialists of widely diverse reputation have been discouraging
on Christianity and the soul recently.

Bernard Shaw was invited by the St. Martin's-in-the-Fields Review to answer three questions.

You believe that (a) "there must be somebody behind the something?" (b) In a first cause? (c) That the universe is made of itself and that our world is a pure society?

Shaw's answer is that he believes there is something behind the somebody, that all bodies are product of the life force, whatever that may be. That God has neither body, parts nor passions.

He thinks a first cause is a contradiction
in terms—there can be no first cause any more than there can be a first inch in a circle.

As to the third question, all life, he says,
is a series of accidents, but when you find them all pointing one way one may guess
there is something behind them that is not accidental.

After he proceeds to declare that the church has failed infamously, but that Christianity is still good, that the dishonesty
of pastors, their sense or folly, their failure or success cannot affect the faith.
And he thinks that if the churches were abolished it would have a most salutary effect. There would then be an irresistible
demand for re-establishment of the church,
which could start again without the silly
superstitions that make it impossible to day. "So many people would find that he had been deprived of a necessity of life that
the want would have to be supplied, and
there would be more churches than ever,
fuller ones, better ones. The only people who can do without churches are the simple materialists, or those whose churches
are their own souls."

Of course, that isn't all Mr. Shaw has to say—he never talks in quarter columns, but that is the gist of it.

The other Socialist is Robert Blatchford,
better known in Europe than in this country,
a notorious materialist until now.

But Blatchford says he has begun to realize there must be a life beyond the grave.
He said he once considered all reason against such a belief. But of late a distant drum has been beating out new and strange measures and I have been asking myself questions," he writes in the London Sunday Herald. And thereafter, through two columns of erudition, he comes finally to the acknowledgment that he is more than half won to the faith.

And both come to agree that Jesus Christ
is still a living influence and that, in spite of the apparent materialism of the times,
there are probably more people who feel
that Christ is the only hope of the world,
more so than ever before in the lifetime of men now living.

Such testimony as this, from two men so widely different, although both profess to be Socialists and therefore in touch with the great mass of the common people, is of particular interest today. Both are men of superior intellect, neither was raised in the ways of religion, both hold the church
as conducted in modern times in contempt.

Both agree that the failure of man by no means means the failure of Christianity,
which must win us each and every one in the end.

way or another, according to the abiding
conviction of the person sitting in judgment.

As to the "legal technicalities"—those
so-called legal technicalities are all barriers erected for the safety of persons accused of crime. They are not the inspirations of scheming lawyers as some people seem to think; they are the fruits of cancerous—thousands of years of bitter, hard experience. They are scars of many terrible tragedies of innocent men condemned.

No one except the defendant, and perhaps Madalayne Oberchain, knows whether or not Arthur Burch is guilty. All the courts
can do is to guess at the truth. The jurors should not be found fault with because they faithfully followed their own guesses instead
of swapping guesses with some other juror.

After a man has said grace at a meal
some time is required for those around the

It is sad to think that the old world can run without us, but it looks sometimes as if
the old thing were just chafing for an opportunity to show us how beautifully it can.

TWILIGHT SLEEP OF CHINA

BY FREDERICK McCORMICK

Two countries are of transcendent
interest which have the closest concern for us. They are Russia and China. They move, but they are in their twilight sleep. Something is coming to birth, but just what, let us conjecture.

During twenty years Sun Yat Sen was a conspirator at Canton at China's territorial tail-end. By his works he often was a refugee in surrounding countries where he learned well the Japanese. He overthrew the other end of China, made his camp at Nanking as first President and visited the ancestral tombs of the Chinese Emperors and informed them of the restoration of the land to the sons of Han. Later the heart of China cast him out. He did that immediately he pitched his camp at Nanking in 1921.

The heart of China neither is at Canton nor at Mukden. It never has been farther south than the right bank of the Blue River, which is Yangtze-Kiang. The plain from which to know Japan in Siberia.

The heart of China is at Peking.

Look at the households that have naging saints at the heads of them! We all know women who would check up 100 per cent perfect in the eyes of the world. They are all known women who denied themselves everything possible in order to save their husbands' money; who burn themselves to a crisp cooking just the thing the doctor told them to eat;
who sit up half the night sewing
so that their Mammies and Sallies
may have just as many fur-below
as richer girls have; whose houses
are cleaned and scrubbed until they are immaculate you might eat off the floors.

But these women are bunches
of nerves. They are always fretting and complaining. They are perpetually finding fault with their children and husbands. They constantly quarrel over the same blanket every day and project. It is a hanging crime and misdemeanor
in their houses to be five minutes late to a meal, or move a chair or rumple a rug.

Then there are the never jolly. They never chum up with their families, and then they wonder why their husbands' and children's idea of having a good time is to get away from home and why they are not appreciated and loved.

And they think this is an ungrateful world because some other woman is a slack housekeeper
and buys ready-made clothes
for her children, adored by her family. No other woman than that she is gentle, and affectionate,
and soft-spoken, and laughs and
plays with them, and is always understanding, and good-natured.

She gives for my children and children. I deny myself everything. I give them better food,
better clothes, more comforts than she does, but her family is not necessarily smiling
and smiling, and don't take things lightly, as she does. My family doesn't care half as much for me
as she does for her. And it's unjust. And I don't understand it."

Yet the master must have understand. The things of the spirit are eternally more important than those of the flesh. Not even husbands and children live
by the spirit alone, and there are very few of us who would not rather
sit down to a dinner with herbs
and a cheerful, pleasant, amiable woman
to bear us company, than to a fear that is eaten to the accompaniment of fault-finding and blame.

Not many of us are selfish enough
anyway, to desire those about us to sacrifice themselves for us, but what we do for us is to have them pleased, and easy to get along with. The thing that we hate and loathe is to have to be perpetually on our guard, for fear of precipitating a scene by inadvertently bringing up the topic that is like a red hot coal, or a bone
or a thorn on the feelings of some one whose morbid sensibilities are spread all over the place.

Most of us get all the fighting
we have stomach for in the outside world. We get our vanity pounded into the point where members of the Anglican bandit would rather see than have a lamp Baba Ruth toss at the job.

Girls Win Verdict in Suit at Pasadena

Many Take Advantage of Back-East Excursions

LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE
PASADENA, May 24.—Prof. Carl C. Thomas, a member of the faculty of Johns Hopkins University and a noted engineer and inventor, was today elected a member of the municipal board of directors to fill the unexpired term of Joseph Caunt. Mr. Caunt recently resigned. His successor was elected by the other members of the board.

Prof. Thomas is the son of the late Dr. G. Roscoe Thomas, a Pasadena man who died a few years ago and who was a member of the first village Board of Trustees of Pasadena. After important college work and important war work in engineering at Hog Island during the war, Prof. Thomas and his family returned to Pasadena in 1920. Prof. Caunt is to represent a large engineering concern on the board.

GIRLS' GOLF VERDICT
Miss Neale Gary, a petite Pasadena stenographer, and her younger sister, Ruth Gary, are now avenged upon Mrs. Edith Flint, 384 South Marengo avenue, who evicted them from their furnished room without notice and before the term of their rent had expired.

After taking under advisement for a week the suit for $250,000 damages brought by the Misses Gary against Mrs. Flint, Judge Johnson, Newell, who heard the case in Justice court, handed down a verdict awarding the girls $52 damages and assessing all the costs of the suit upon Mrs. Flint. Ralph Merriman was attorney for the girls while Judge F. C. Dunham represented the landlady, Mrs. Flint.

The case attracted considerable attention, as it was an echo of the house and room scarcity of a year ago, and the case of Justice under protest occurred during that hectic era. The Misses Gary carried their grievance to the courts.

LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE
RIVERSIDE, May 24.—Dr. Harry L. Boardman, who recently started the constituency of the Northern Baptist Convention by withdrawing from the denomination on the ground that he no longer held many of its tenets, has accepted the challenge of Rev. Richard E. Day, pastor of the First Baptist Church, to pay $100 to any one who could produce scientific proof of the Darwinian theory of evolution.

The offer was made by Rev. Mr. Day last Sunday evening during a sermon dealing with science and religion. It is a coincidence that a part of the service should have been devoted to the theory of evolution. Dr. A. C. Dixon of the Los Angeles Bible Institute, who only a few months ago delivered a scathing arraignment of the evolutionary theory in Mr. Day's pulpit, told him it looks like some money to me," said Dr. Boardman, "and, since I need money pretty badly, if the pastor of the First Baptist Church will divide his time with me some day, I will be glad to come back to my old pulpit for a reverent and thoughtful consideration of this question.

"I might not win the money, but I would at least have the chance to make a little contribution to the good cause of science, and save people from the mistake of ideas that science and faith are necessarily in conflict.

"Why exempt the Bible from the list of subjects to be studied scientifically? I think it should be to no good reason; and that, too, reason probably the knowledge of the part of those taking such a position that many commonly accepted ideas of the Bible will not stand the light of scientific investigation."

Rev. Mr. Day is out of the city, so whether he will accept Dr. Boardman's suggestion that a meeting be arranged which would vie with radio for attractiveness could not be learned.

A considerable sum will be spent by the county in improving sanitary arrangements in Oak Park, where a tank will be built and water piped to it from a spring on the Strathearn ranch.

ADVOCATES TRAINING PARENTS

Teacher Would Equip Elders to Properly Instruct Their Children

EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH

SAN DIEGO, May 24.—Instruction of parents in order to equip them for the proper training of the children's minds prior to entry into kindergartens and elementary schools was advocated by Dr. L. Leroy Stockton of the Santa Barbara Stockton Co. Inc., who addressed before members of the San Diego Women's Civic Center and delegates attending the annual convention of the California Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher Association here today.

Dr. Stockton's subject was "The National School," and the Parent-Teacher Association." He pointed out that inasmuch as times are changing, there must come a change in the methods heretofore employed in the education of the child if the educational system is to be progressive. Close cooperation between teachers and parents was strongly urged.

The speaker said that this step has been taken in a number of cities and the results were most beneficial to all concerned. Each member declared, counts heavily and children should be given every possible opportunity to make the most of their lives.

Will C. Wood, State Superintendent of Schools, spoke on "The Public Schools and Their Relation to the Parent-Teacher Association." He discussed the tendency of American families in rural communities to move to cities and the consequent encroachment of urban life upon the rural areas. The rural school, he said, must have all the advantages of the public educational system in the city, including the opportunity to study art, music and other subjects usually not found on the curriculum of the country schools.

Reports of State officials indicated that of Mrs. Charles F. Gray of Los Angeles, first vice-president of the organization. Mrs. Gray, together with Mrs. Hugh Bradford of Sacramento, second vice-president, presided at an informal reception to national delegates tonight, as well as Mrs. David Mears, first vice-president of the National Congress of Mothers, told of happenings at the national convention.

LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE

VENICE, May 24.—Tomorrow night the remodeled, refurnished Ship Cafe will be formally reopened under the management of William Paine and Morris Rauch, two California restaurant men who established the Green Mill Gardens' Club a year ago and who expect to make the Ship Cafe the second link in a chain of popular restaurants in and around Los Angeles.

More than $50,000 has been spent in making the Venice pleasure enterprise one of the most sumptuously fitted dining and dancing palaces of the West.

The Ship will be run under the management of the Green Mill Gardens, with the exception that the latter will continue to feature a table d'hote chicken dinner, while the former will specialize in viands a la carte.

All Sunlight fruit picked after January 20 was thrown to one pool and the average return on this were $7,000 per hundred pounds. The Ship will be run under the management of the Green Mill Gardens, with the exception that the latter will continue to feature a table d'hote chicken dinner, while the former will specialize in viands a la carte.

More than 500 reservations have been made for tonight's opening and indications are that it will be one of the gala social events of the season.

LAUDS STATE'S UNIVERSITIES

"Best the World Affords," Speaker Declares

Education in America and Europe Compared

Producer of Plays Relates His Experiences

BY MYRA NYE
Mrs. Jane Bancroft Robinson, historian, philanthropist, and educator who writes after her name letters that indicate she has degrees from Syracuse University, Bryn Mawr, University of Zurich, University of Paris and others, was one of the group of distinguished guests who spoke after luncheon at the Shell session yesterday.

"University Education in France" was the subject assigned to Mrs. Robinson by the moderator, Mrs. W. H. Bartlett, but the conversation circling the table during the luncheon hour led Mrs. Robinson to speak with delightful informality on many things gleaned from a life of rich experience.

The Shell offers opportunities for the education of children of all classes superior to those of England was a statement of the speaker as she told how she was the first woman to be admitted to the school of higher education in history in Paris. She said that her letters of introduction were most imposing, her eligibility set down most clearly and the red tape unwound of great length. Indeed, so difficult it was that she expected obtaining most impossible when for the first time she obtained a long flight of narrow, cut doors six that led to an upper class room. To her surprise she found a class of eight boys, none of them over 22 years of age.

Being several years older, she made them feel like comrades at once and soon they were all doing intensive research work together in history. Later Mrs. Robinson studied in many of the other European Universities and when some one asked her which university in Europe she would advise for young students today she replied:

PLATED BEFORE KING'S.
The best of American universities are more than a match for those in Europe. It is only for specific work along some lines that one needs to go abroad. Here in California are the best of the world affords, particularly the State University, Stanford and for another type of student, University of Southern California. Just now America is particularly the western part of the United States is the hope of the world so it is well that we have facilities to train our young men and women to lead."

Walter Hast, who recently came to Los Angeles to produce pictures on "The Important Part Women May Play in the Uplift of the Drama,"

Hast early in his career was director of St. James Theatre in London under Sir George Alexander, actor-manager. He told of his first visit to Hollywood, Irving Coquelin, Richard Mansfield, he regarded as the finest actor of the last generation, Mme. Mojecka, Adele Rehan and many others.

He told how he produced and played in "Old Heidelberg" in London and the first night there were present: The Kaiser of Germany, the Crown Prince, King Manuel of Portugal, King Alfonso of Spain, King Edward, Queen Alexandra, Joseph Chaote, then the American Ambassador, and the Shah of Persia. All of these members of the court were present.

"I would never have let go the Kaiser's hand at that time if I had known what he was going to do," said Mr. Hast.

CHANGED PLAT'S NAME.
Graham Moffat was first booked by Mr. Hast with his entire family for $60 a week and later Mr. Moffat came to him with a little "sketch," as he called it, asking whether Mr. Hast, though it could be produced as a play, it had

"had a queer, impossible sort of a name," said Mr. Hast. "I changed it to 'Bunty Fulls' the String' and it made $3,000,000."

Among some of the more recent plays produced by Mr. Hast are:

"What Every Woman Knows," by Barrie; "Damaged Goods," by Monroe; "Brick;" "True Justice" and "Fugitive," by John Galsworthy; "The Charm School" and "Polly With a Past."

"It is right here in this part of your beautiful State that drama should at once begin to find its great progress. The talent of the young people in the schools and universities should be developed for it is the best the country affords and the playwrights also should be encouraged. Los Angeles may be the artistic center that rivals New York at once, and should speedily surpass it."

A PRESALE

Coulter's Diocles June Sale Values Before the First

By Olive Gray

Like those parents who take such delight in the gifts secured for the children that they cannot wait until Christmas Day to give them, Coulter's is revealing, five days before June 1, the bargain offering in that annual event.

For months buyers have been scouring eastern markets to present via express unbroken lines of That they have succeeded in all departments discriminating Angelenos will agree.

The sale begins on May 25, when many sections will bring forth their wares at startlingly lowered prices. Each day, thereafter, other sections will follow.

Consideration for those charge customers who are long-time friends of this old and reliable house, forms one important reason for opening this sale before the first of the month.

It will then be opened for May and purchases made on the 25th and after will not appear until the end of June. With values so tempting as those offered in this sale, purchasing for the future is like placing money out at interest.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.
Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories."

Answers to Correspondents
"Dear Doctor: I have lived up to the pledge and I have not had over 500 calories of liquid. This will be the third day. Have been working hard, a little weak, but the worst effect has been headache. This morning I have so many wrinkles around my eyes. I am wondering if by reducing I am going to have wrinkles. For my part I would rather be fat than wrinkled."

"Please tell me if you know of any way to keep from getting wrinkled. Monday's and Tuesday's paper were lost so did not see your rule for figuring weight. I am not allowing age to accumulate weight and considering it normal now."

WRINKLES
"A short time back I wrote on wrinkles and assured you that no matter how many wrinkles you seem to acquire while reducing, you can reduce them without losing too much beauty. The chief thing is not to reduce too rapidly. You say that you would rather be fat than wrinkled. I can promise you this—if you remain excessively fat you won't get wrinkled. You won't live long enough to get that real weight. I still insist that we need a color commission."

That June Sale
"I wish you could have accompanied me to the stock room where we housed some of the bargains to form part of the June sale at that old reliable store. Shelf after shelf filled with mysterious boxes, and as we lifted the lids and pried within, there were bags for every taste and for every occasion. There were bags for every day and for every evening, hand-tooled leather, plain vanities, leather and silk, bags of finest leather, hand-tooled leather, plain vanities in colors and in black, in leather and in silk: bags possessing every sort of fad and fancy, both in and exteriorly. If you or I have a bag want of any kind, it will pay us to be present at the opening of that sale."

And Silks
"If you have become accustomed to thinking of silk sales as fad-and-affairs, wherein are offered the leftovers of a season, you must re-think your notions. In the June sale the silk offerings comprise the very latest weaves and colorings, while the quality is up to the usual standard of that always to be depended upon store. There are the new rough-surfaced creations, now so popular, the cross-hatched, as well as the old cage dwellers, who were most cordial in welcoming Mrs. Fowler. She, by the way, was looking her best, in an impudent garden frock, on Tuesday at the Hunt girl's party for Mrs. William Gibbs McAdoo.

Returning to Boston
"Mrs. Blanche Dowling, who has been at the Ambassador all winter and who has been much entertained, will leave next week for her home in Boston.

Wedding Date Told as Tea
"Mrs. Gladys Donavan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. G. Donavan of 2202 South Western, announced the date of her marriage to Donald Judd Hanna at a delightful tea she gave to seventy-five close friends on Tuesday afternoon. The wedding will take place Wednesday evening, June 14, at the home of the bride's parents, and will be a quiet affair. Father Thomas Blackwell will officiate. Miss Donavan, who is one finds sweaters of the very best lanned variety in silk at a price usually asked for something not nearly as good. —Lester G. Johnson, of the aristocracy. Of Navy Taffeta
"In hat novelties none is more striking, more surprising, one might say, than those of navy taffeta. They will wear well and are the color of the material, but here come both for a chance from the more sporty and the lavishly floral chapeaux thus far prevalent."

Fancy any woman novelist trotting out to 'interview' fifty or sixty men upon their own intelligence and aspired to acquire any worthwhile information."

Board of Public Works recommended J. V. Ainsworth, in charge of the unionized municipal repairmen, to appear before the board to answer the excessive bills of the city for work done. Because of these continuing bills were demanded by the members of the Finance Committee to record as refusing to pay additional automobile bills, but there, Chairman Musket at yesterday's meeting of the committee refused to vote at the appropriation for $15,000.12 to the police department's deficit on the patrol-wagon body although as the job has been completed, the committee must eventually set aside the money to pay the bill.

The semi-annual dance of the Los Angeles High School unit of the R.O.T.C. will be held tomorrow evening in the State Armory at Exposition Park under the auspices of the officers and non-commissioned officers' club of the Los Angeles unit.

More than 500 invitations have been distributed to a large number of other R.O.T.C. units expected to attend besides the whole enrollment of the present unit. All officers of other high school units in the city have been invited to attend as have several Reserve Army officers stationed in the city.

Guests of honor will be Col. and Mrs. E. W. Clark and Lieut.-Col. and Mrs. John J. Mudgett. The latter is the commandant of the Los Angeles unit.

Dornfert, the prestidigitator who is in the cast of the Elsie Janis Company at the Mason, was entertained after the performance last night by the Los Angeles Society of Magicians at a dinner at the Poodle Dog, 8th and Union avenue. Members of the local club formed a theater party before the dinner.

Pasadena Directors Defer Action of Proposition of Compromise

LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE

PASADENA, May 24.—Action on the petitions for a compromise of the alley controversy between the First Methodist Church and Ernest Lockwood and other Colorado-street property owners was again postponed by the city directors today. The Methodists protested the petition of Lockwood and others for an alley through the site of their new church which was recently granted by the directors.

and on hand. Of this total, the shop bill set forth that $496.67 was for material and $1295.62 for labor. This was a repetition of the case of the automobile association because the names of Chairman Musket and Councilman Mallard of the Finance Committee, in which also the labor costs in the shop were nearly three times the cost of materials.

Chairman Musket at yesterday's meeting of the Finance Committee refused to vote at the appropriation for $15,000.12 to the police department's deficit on the patrol-wagon body although as the job has been completed, the committee must eventually set aside the money to pay the bill.

ANOTHER SHOCK

Another shock to the Finance Committee which is responsible for the city's financial condition came yesterday when the Police Department requested an appropriation of $15,000.12 to meet the expense of repairing the patrol-wagon body.

In the budget, the Council appropriated $15,000 for a new patrol wagon for Central Station.

Chairman Musket, chief driver of the department, said the sum was for $250, while the amount requested by the Police Department was for $15,000.12.

Commissioner reported to the Finance Committee that the shop bill for the new patrol wagon for Central Station was for $15,000.12.

Line of March Spectators Pealed With Fruit

Anaheim's second annual citrus exposition, the California Valencia Orange Show which was opened formally Tuesday evening, was under full steam yesterday with the prospects that before the close of the show at midnight Memorial Day, more than 125,000 persons will have viewed the unique spring festival.

The usual first day confusion with scores of workmen putting finishing touches on the elaborate displays was not in evidence yesterday and some thousand visitors saw smooth-running exhibits with every exhibit in place.

The numerous side attractions on the midway also were in full swing.

ORANGES AS MISSILES

Yesterday was club day, the Kiwanis and Rotary clubs entertaining a large number of guests at the show. During the course of Anaheim's fairest maidens drove to this city, where they met the fashion show girls directed by Jewell-Pathe. The gaily decorated automobiles with their attractive passengers proceeded through the decoration section, the girls pelting the populace with Valencia oranges.

From Los Angeles the Valencia maidens made a tour of the west coast, thence to Long Beach and then to Santa Ana. A fashion show last night was one of the features of the exposition.

FINE DECORATIONS

Today has been designated as fraternal day and many lodges and other fraternal organizations are planning to celebrate. Probably the biggest day will be Sunday, which is All-Southern Day. Plans being made whereby 200 additional lodges and regular men from the East will be taken to Anaheim Saturday afternoon to attend the show.

The exposition is featured by one of the most unusual decorative schemes ever employed. The orange blossoms are in perfect color at this time and the result is a blaze of orange. Crowds lingered long around the big display of King Valencia and paid high court. The artistic display of the Valencia fruit lodge is conceded a prize winner. The Rotary Club of Anaheim is boasting the convention to be held in Los Angeles next month by presenting a very attractive display representing the world. It is conceived of fruits and flowers.

OTHER FEATURES

Perhaps the visitor will be bewildered in the main fruit tent. If so, the enters the 400-foot-long industry section where almost everything mechanical pertaining to the citrus industry is being exhibited, demonstrated and exploited. There are implements, fertilizers, sprayers, irrigation pipes, pieces of pipe being so big that a motion-picture show is given inside, nursery stock, tractors, in fact, orchard machinery and automobile of every kind.

Other features will include a child welfare department, the Los Angeles artists' display of California paintings, singers, dancers, Harry Green's Orchestra, Miss Vera Esmy, the Orange county band, and radio demonstrations.

SPEED WORK ON TUNNEL, IS DEMAND

Further Extensions for Second-Street Project Are Held Up

Los Angeles residents, particularly those property owners who were assessed $1,000,000 to pay for the improvement, demand the rapid completion of the Second-street tunnel, was the statement made to the Board of Public Works yesterday by George M. Babcock, secretary and managing director of the Business Men's Co-operative Association.

"The people, particularly the business men and property owners," said Mr. Babcock, "are interested in the dirt in building the tunnel. They want the tunnel completed at the earliest possible moment."

Attorney Emmet Wilson, speaking on behalf of James A. Hill, the contractor, who is actually now doing the work, and his financial backers, said that "within eight months" he believed there would be "daylight through the tunnel." He said the 100 men are now at work on the job every day, and asked a year's extension of the time to complete the job, though he said that the contractor desired to complete it before the year was up.

Before any extensions are granted, the commissioners said, they must have on record the answer to the question, "Who is building the tunnel?" While John Hayes is the contractor of record, Attorney Wilson said that Hayes was "out of it" and that he (Mr. Wilson) would file with the board an assignment of his rights to James A. Hill, who is doing the work. President Treat, on the other hand, said that Mr. Hayes had told him that he (Mr. Wilson) would file with the board an application for an extension of the time limit of 465 days under the contract, which expires on July 9. The board is determined to have the question over who is entitled to compensation for the tunnel work cleared up before it grants any extension of time.

EVA TANGUAY MADE DEFENDANT IN SUIT

POLICE IDEA OF SUICIDES IS FOLLOWED

Three Men Kill Selves With the Acts Only Few Hours Separated

The old police superstition that suicides run in threes was upheld yesterday when three men killed themselves with revolvers within a few hours.

The two men murdered their bathrobes in widely separated sections of the city at the stroke of noon and each fired a bullet into his head. They were Alfred S. Sprunk, 30, years of age, of 200 North Las Lomas, and William Wolcott, 53, 1150 Mignonette street.

Mr. Sprunk, according to information received by Detectives King and Norman, was separated from his wife, Mrs. Mathiesen, by the separation from his wife, which occurred more than two years ago. He shot himself twice through the chest and once in the mouth. He died en route to the ambulance arrived. The body was sent to the McKeller mortuary.

Mr. Wolcott, a retired grocer, killed himself instantly with a shot through the right lung. His wife discovered the body. Officer Mathiesen of the police Juvenile bureau had questioned the man earlier in the day concerning ascertaining the whereabouts of his young son. There was no longer any trace of the boy.

FOX AND GOLDWYN LEAD IN FOREIGN PRODUCTION

By Grace Kingsley
It is actually beginning to happen at last—the extensive filming of picture plays by American companies in Europe. Of course Lasky was the pioneer over there, but the London Paramount studios are now closed, and it remains for William Fox and Goldwyn to carry on the work, with Associated First National soon to be in the field.

The latest announcement from the Fox offices in New York is to the effect that Mr. Fox and his wife, and two daughters, sailed on Tuesday on the Aquitania for London. Here Mr. Fox will oversee the making of "If Winter Comes."

This story is over at last, and it has been decided that Harry Millarde will make the film version of the popular Hutchinson novel, under supervision of Mr. Fox. Both Fox and Millarde will consult with the author in regard to the scenario, and the exterior scenes of the original will be made in England, while the interiors will be filmed later at the Fox studios in New York. Harry Millarde is remembered for his film of "Over the Hill."

Later Mr. Fox will go to Rome to visit his studio there and to review "The Shepherd King," which was filmed in Palestine and Egypt. It is likely also that he will take J. Gordon Edwards out to a new picture. It is probable also that he will purchase the film rights to other Hutchinson novels.

Maurice Tourneur, now in England filming the screen version of "The Christian" for Goldwyn, has secured the picture rights of "The Professor" from the Hall Caine story. He will make this picture before returning to this country. It is quite likely that Richard Dix and Max Busch will be the leading stars in the picture, even though they have in "The Christian." Hall Caine is co-operating on the scenario.

Peace reigns once more between Vitagraph and its famous comedian, Larry Semon.

A disagreement that had threatened at one time to result in complete disruption between the producing company and the star climaxed last night with announcement from the Vitagraph studios in Mollywood that the various suits which the company and Semon had been dropped and a new contract established.

Semon himself is expected to return Saturday from New York, whither he recently went for a conference with President Albert E. Smith of Vitagraph. It is anticipated that Semon will immediately resume production.

Just before he went east two weeks ago he had completed "A Pair of Kings" which is a Vitagraph release for June.

George W. Fenimore, Los Angeles counsel for the company, declared last night that a telegram had been received from W. M. Seabury, chief counsel for the Vitagraph Company of America, in New York, stipulating that a new contract had been drawn and that all previous legal difficulties had been dropped. No details of the new agreement have reached Los Angeles.

The original and consequent suits between Vitagraph and Semon involved over $1,500,000. It is said.

The company's first suit was filed in court of Session of New York in 1920. Complete damages of $350,000 were asked on a picture called "The Suitor." The amount of $366,000 was asked because of alleged inability of the company to meet requirements due to Semon's alleged delay in production.

The other $30,000 was based on damages sustained by alleged extravagance of Semon in making the two-reel picture.

At the trial and cross-complaint Semon alleged that he had suffered to the extent of $1,000,000 because of advertisements published broadcast by the company.

Vitagraph later entered an additional suit against Semon, asking that it be awarded $210,000, alleging loss in production of five later pictures by Semon. In this suit no mention was made of loss sustained by release date difficulties.

The total amounts for which Vitagraph sued Semon were $875,000.

"Clarence" Maturing

Filming of "Clarence" is soon to be started by William DeMille, who has been engaged to produce the picture.

Clara Beranger, who prepared the popular stage play, "Clare-rence," the scenario, has arrived here to prepare the continuity.

Following "Clarence," Mr. De Mille will make "Notorious," from an original story by Clara Beranger, who plans to write the scenario here, following her work on "Clarence."

"Out of the Dust"

Next Sunday at the California theater one of the outstanding features of the year "Out of the Dust" will be shown. It was inspired by the famous paintings of Frederic Remington. It is one of those rare kind of pictures a great many of which have been brought to life with a background of romance, pathos and thrilling drama.

Lady Manners Again

Apparently Lady Diana Manners has been encouraged by the reception accorded her film, "The Glorious Adventure," to the extent of making another film for the same activities.

She is to play the role of Lady Diana in "The Queen's Gambit," the scenario of which is by Dorothy Vernon, and is now studying up on Elizabethan periods and sixteenth-century legends of Haddon Hall. Dorothy Vernon's romantic elopement with Sir John Manners will probably form the basis of the story.
